IDBE Master’s Scholarship for Outstanding Academic Ability 2020

One competitive 50 per cent scholarship is available for entry in September 2020 for an applicant who demonstrates outstanding academic ability.

The Interdisciplinary Design for the Built Environment (IDBE) is a two-year part-time Master’s course for built environment professionals, offered by the Cambridge Institute for Sustainability Leadership and supported by the Departments of Architecture and Engineering. The Master’s attracts candidates looking to expand their understanding of global challenges and opportunities facing the industry. The programme equips professionals for strategic decision-making, inventive problem solving and evidence-based design and provides the skills and confidence to support and lead interdisciplinary design teams.

Applications are welcomed from high-achieving professionals in all areas of the built environment from all around the world.

The Combined Graduate Fee for the course is £10,725 per year, i.e. £21,450 in total. The scholarship will cover 50 per cent of the total fee for the two-year course (£5,362.50 in each year).*

To be considered, a complete course application and Scholarship Application Statement must be submitted.

For full details on the Scholarship please see the IDBE website.

Closing date for applications 1 June 2020

*Please note: The Scholarship winner must be able to pay the remaining fees of £5,362.50 each year (£10,725 in total over two years), and meet the accommodation, food and travel costs associated with attending the residential weeks.
